

Anders Dahl Christiansen

Anders has been the Danish Men's National Golf Coach for five years. Prior to his teaching career, he worked as a physiotherapist for a number of years before making his big passion, golf, his way of living. Anders has competed as an amateur on the highest level in Denmark and among other victories won a Danish Amateur Major before turning pro. As a pro he won several professional tournaments in Denmark and qualified for a couple of Challenge Tour events. He is now a highly experienced coach and work as personal coach for top amateurs and Danish touring pros, among others players with European Tour experience. Anders made his way to become the Danish Men's National Golf Coach among other things by becoming a Master Instructor for one of the most renowned golf coaches in the world, Jim McLean and is now also an experienced lecturer who offers seminars on "performance optimization" for companies and golf clubs in Denmark.
